Legislative Developments. Staff discussions concerning differences between the House and Senate versions of the FY 1983 Intelligence Authorization Bill are under way, particularly with regard to the "former spouses" provisions. We expect that the result will be language along the lines of the more detailed Senate version of this legislation. We will be working closely with House and Senate Intelligence Committee staff to ensure that key matters of concern to the Agency are appropriately handled. [REDACTED]

On 16 July the Senate passed H.R. 4688, which amends the Military Personnel and Civilian Employees' Claims Act of 1964 to increase from $15,000 to $25,000 the maximum amount that the United States may pay in settlement of a claim of damaged or lost personal property incident to government service. The President is expected to sign the Bill shortly, and it will apply to claims arising after the date of enactment. A separate Bill was enacted in 1980 which allows claims up to $40,000 when the loss is the result of violence directed against the U.S. Government, or an authorized evacuation. [REDACTED]
